BEST BET: Race 3 - #3 Brandy's Girl

She'll likely be a short price, but Brandy's Girl has just been so consistent and impressive, plus she's been running against the boys. She beat males twice in a row (one of them a stake race), and last time out in the Tamiami finished a good second behind Extravagant Kid after overcoming an outside draw and a wide trip. Now in with her own gender once again and freshened since September 17, she is the much horse to beat.

LONGSHOT: Race 2 - #5 Fast Fact

After a long layoff and a barn switch, this gelding's race two starts back was pretty disappointing. However, he switched back to the turf last time out and closed to get the win, even with a bit of traffic trouble. I don't think he'll be quite so far back this time, which would be to his benefit in a race without much early speed signed on. Turf definitely seems to be his preferred surface.
