

RACE BY RACE ANALYSIS

By Acacia Courtney

Sunday, April 8, 2018

RACE 1:

- 1 – Grayciez Spirit
- 2 – Awesomendensome
- 4 – Aussie Prayer

SELECTIONS: 1-2-4-3

RACE 2:

- 3 – Discreet Gal
- 6 – All in Girl
- 4 – Luz Estrella

SELECTIONS: 3-6-4-2

RACE 3:

- 5 – Bluegrass Envy
- 4 – Mr. Sultana
- 3 – Yo No Se

SELECTIONS: 5-4-3-7

RACE 4:

- 1 – Awesome Class
- 4 – Exonerated Rule
- 3 – Dixie Princess

SELECTIONS: 1-4-3-6

RACE 5:

- 6 – Spring Joy
- 5 – Dino Dude
- 3 – Get a Move On It

SELECTIONS: 6-5-3-8

RACE 6:

- 4 – Mambo At the Gym
- 3 – Bingo Kitten
- 6 – Til the End

SELECTIONS: 4-3-6-5

RACE 7:

- 1 – Stormin Charlotte
- 3 – Madison Blues
- 9 – Tiuna

SELECTIONS: 1-3-9-6

RACE 8:

- 3 – Dancing Noelle
- 6 – La Nena de Papa
- 5 – Salsa Rita

SELECTIONS: 3-6-5-1

RACE 9:

- 6 – Meant Tobe Mine
- 1 – Treasure for Gold
- 4 – Mojo's Queen

SELECTIONS: 6-1-4-2

RACE 10:

- 9 – Rain in Spain
- 7 – Hold That Kitten
- 1 – Leroids Mommie

SELECTIONS: 9-7-1-3

BEST BET: Race 9 - #6 Meant Tobe Mine

This filly has been incredibly consistent lately, and absolutely exploded last time out when making her first start for trainer Jason Servis. She will have to deal with Coquivacoa, the other main speed in the race, but I think based off of the last two performances from Meant Tobe Mine, she is strictly the horse to beat.

LONGSHOT: Race 10 - #3 Court Central

Coming out of a race where she was well beaten after a slow beginning, I think that Court Central is facing a field where the logical horses have their own fair share of questions. Getting Nik Juarez in the saddle, who has ridden her before, this filly will be a bigger price than she has been in some of her recent starts.