BEST BET: Race 10 - #6 Necessary

This filly has been very good in her two starts off the claim for trainer Yvon Belsoeur. She got a win two back and then was beaten a head last time out. She takes a slight drop in class today and will try to notch that "non-winners of three" condition. She is tactical and should be in the right spot.

LONGSHOT: Race 3 - #4 My Point Exactly

Making his second start off the claim for trainer Mike Maker, this gelding certainly does have to make amends after a poor performance last time out in the Little Magician after taking money. He has natural tactical speed, and should be able to sit a perfect trip just off the flank of the speed horses to his inside. The drop in class should be key, plus I expect some improvement in his second start for this barn.
