Summit of Speed '18: Happy Summit of Speed Day! Here's to a terrific, profitable (for you) and safe 14-race extravaganza this Saturday at Gulfstream Park. Personally, I have always dug the Summit of Speed. In fact, it takes no effort on my part in recalling many of the insanely fast, big-talent horses like Caller One, Xtra Heat, Gold Mover and Madcap Escapade that helped make the Summit of Speed a smashing success at the turn of the century – it was inaugurated in early summer of 2000. Nearly two decades later, this exclusive, big-day event for sprinters is still going strong. Sorry, those routers and marathon types need not apply in the stakes action on Summit of Speed Day.

Mandatory Payouts Saturday: Friendly reminder: all of Gulfstream Park's carryover pools – the Rainbow 6, late Pick 5 and Super High 5 – will pay out entirely on Saturday. As I write this Thursday morning, the jackpot Rainbow 6 pool sits at a gargantuan $800,000! That is a very, very big pile of cash! And needless to say, if the jackpot does not get hit Thursday or Friday, Saturday's Rainbow 6 pool is likely to exceed $10 million. Talk about a Summit of Speed Day to remember!

X Y Jet is a Monster: I really enjoyed looking over the lifetime resume of the gifted sprinter X Y Jet. X Y Jet, at 9-7-2 from 21 starts, will likely roll at odds of 1/2 or 3/5 in the fifth and final stakes race of the afternoon, the Grade 3 Smile Sprint. The 250k Smile Sprint, race 13 of 14, marks X Y Jet's return to American competition. His last race, 91 days ago, was a giant but brutal head loss to Mind Your Biscuits in Dubai's Golden Shaheen. There is a very good chance he'll break first and never look back.

A Very, Very (Very) Late Pick 5: With a stacked n' packed 14-race card, there is obviously enough racing to go around here Summit of Speed day for everyone. While taking a stab in the Rainbow 6 – again a mandatory payout of the entire pool – I'm also likely to play the proceeding late Pick 5 ticket for $36. X Y Jet appears a very strong, reasonable and appealing single in the Smile Sprint; his outside post and ridiculous early speed – come and get him boys – make him even more imposing. So, X Y Jet anchors my Summit of Speed late Pick 5 ticket, a ticket that goes like this...

R10: 2,5,11 -Straightforward in leg 1 with two key dropdowns and of course, 0/14 Nonno Nino

R11: 5,6,10 -Big purse increase of 26k for these 62-50 claimers have brought out a big field!

R12: 1,3 -Defending winner Curlin's Approval faces an improving My Miss Tapit

R13: 8 -Freshened after Dubai, healthy and just a really, really good racehorse

R14: 3,4,5,8 -Need coverage to cash; run this race 10 times, you might get seven different winners
