

JASON BLEWITT'S

Race Analysis

Sunday, June 9, 2019

RACE 1: 1 – 5 – 4 – 3

RACE 2: 5 – 4 – 6 – 2

RACE 3: 4 – 1 – 7 – 2

RACE 4: 2 – 3 – 6 – 4

RACE 5: 4 – 5 – 3 – 9

RACE 6: 6 – 1 – 4 – 3

RACE 7: 4 – 7 – 6 – 3

RACE 8: 2 – 7 – 3 – 5

RACE 9: 8 – 1 – 6 – 3

RACE 10: 8 – 1 – 4 – 7

RACE 11: 5 – 1 – 4 – 11

*Sunday's First-Race Post:
1:15 ET*

Sunday's 'Split' Maiden Divisions

Forget about any Belmont Stakes Day hangover here at Gulfstream Park! Yep, it will be business as usual at GP on this Sunday, June 9th, thanks to an 11-race program (Sunday's action will begin by 1:20 ET.) And good things definitely come in pairs on a card featuring two turf stakes – worth $75,000 a pop – in The Nicole's Dream and The Thirsty Fish. There are also successive, split division two-year-old maiden specials carded as races 6 and 8. And when the dust settles late Sunday, race 4 from May 12th may have produced two next-out winners in Liam's Lucky Charm – likely favored for Ralph Nicks in race 6 – and Genghis, an expected heavy chalk in the 8th. Liam's Lucky Charm never got involved here last month against just four foes when he finished a one-paced (and distant third) behind the speedy, wire-to-wire winning Cajun Casanova. I'd imagine he'll improve in his second start as he meets five first-time starting rivals. Tovar Y Tovar is one of those new faces, a Gustavo Delgado-trained colt by Gone Astray. Tovar Y Tovar is the second foal from a terrific on-track racemare in French Politics (Political Force.) She won six times (all dirt sprints) and had success as a win-early two-year-old. Emisael Jaramillo, Delgado's first-call rider this time of year in South Florida, has the call. The aforementioned Genghis has run two solid races – both narrow losses – as race 8's obvious horse to beat. This Arindel-owned, Juan Alvarado-trained Brethren colt exits a strong placing right behind Cajun Casanova – and well in front of Liam's Lucky Charm. My personal trip note from May 12th: "Genghis chased inside, angled four-wide at the top of the stretch and finished gamely outside; too late."