New Week, New Post Time

With Monday and Tuesday a thing of the past, Gulfstream Park will roar into a new five-day racing week on Wednesday afternoon. Daylight-savings time is certainly in full effect – hope you’ve made up that hour sleep deficiency by now – and racing fans will find a new weekday first post of 1:15 p.m. ET waiting for them at GP. Wednesday’s card, in fact, features 11 races, led by a main track-bound cast of three-year-old fillies in the 10th race; that serves as the day’s dirt finale. Trainer Victor Barboza Jr. is a year-round mainstay – and consistently sharp winner – here in South Florida. And over the last two years, his operation has grown exponentially not only in quantity but in quality. In fact, the Venezuelan-born Barboza saddles one of the newest additions to his South Florida shedrow here late Wednesday, a three-year-old Gio Ponti filly named Helen. Helen appears to have found the perfect spot to test the waters at Gulfstream Park. She’s 2-2-1 from six starts – all as a two-year-old – has already scored at the one mile distance (around one turn, to boot) and brings quality speed to the mix. Helen returns off a 123-day layoff from post 4 with Emisael Jaramillo. She should be tough to beat as the favorite.

Heidi Ho Legit Race 1 Chalk

Trainer Efren Loza Jr. always warrants a serious look, especially in turf sprints here at Gulfstream. This barn wins at a high percentage and appears to have found a terrific spot for their Heidi Ho in the Wednesday opener. Heidi Ho catches a fairly modest-looking field while she drops to the lowest claiming level – a good move – of her career.
